

NASTE Season 2012 – Race #8

March 10, 2012

Riverside Raceway, Portland, Oregon

Little cars made another appearance as twenty racers came out to Andre Perra's Riverside Raceway.

Andre and wife Suzanne treated us to a fantastic night of racing and an excellent feast prepared with a St. Patty's theme. Andre has a beautiful HO scale track, smooth as silk! As it turned out, Andre had selected cars that were both fun to run and easy to handle. The night's hot-rods were what the HO gang refers to as "Slow-Jets" – probably just our speed. And as the evening wore on and the racing progressed it became more interesting by the minute, if not longer.

In the first set controversy erupted once it was determined that the tires had only been cleaned prior to the start. As the heats went by the discrepancy mounted. It was determined that in the next set the tires would be cleaned prior to each heat.

And in the second set with clean tires at the start of each heat lap times dropped and totals climbed significantly. For the drivers that had been late in the first set, the change was amazing. Cars that had been slippery devils magically transformed into winged stallions. At some point it felt like hours turned into minutes... Now some say there was an issue with the clock and that some minutes were longer than others while others say the only true answer for the missing time can be alien abduction. At NASTE we just say "too bad!"

Throttling the little beasties to a first place finish was Flyin' Bryan Trachsel with a little more than a half lap lead over Battlin' Bill Bostic. Finishing another half lap behind in third was our host Andre Perra.

We'd like to thank Andre and Suzanne for hosting a wonderful event. The dinner was outstanding and the racing superb. In between we snacked on a variety of deserts topped by Dorothy's famous chocolate "experiments".

We'll see you next time at Howie's Rapid Raceway. Don't be late!
