

NASTE Season 2015 – Race #9

February 21, 2015

WFO Speedway, Portland, Oregon

An exceptional crowd of twenty-one racers came out to race at Bryan & Sherry's WFO Speedway for the 9th race of the NASTE season. And the action was, well frankly wild, frantic, and outrageous!

Bryan had two sets of four T-jets for us to race.

The first set of cars were the '55 Chevys. The '55s are my personal favorites, they maintain that NASTE heritage. The racing in the first round with the '55s was exciting to say the least. The cars performed flawlessly until the last couple of heats. One of the cars experienced a loose rear wheel. Since loose wheels only stay loose for so long it was soon to be so long wheel. After a little time out for some automotive repairs the car was back and running like never before, and not too long after lost it entirely.

Leading after round one was Dana Denton with Jeff Fields in second and John Fisher in third in the Challenge Race, while Terry Abbott held a slim lead over Bryan Trachsel with Tracy Flood third in the Expert Division.

With round two we encountered the second set of cars, the Jalopy's!

Bryan displayed some apprehension about racing these beauties after the problems encountered in the first round with the '55s. Traditionally the Jalopy's tend to be somewhat more fragile and finicky than other T-jet cars. However much to everyone's delight the Jalopy's not only handled extremely well, they worked perfectly.

After two rounds of tight, competitive racing it was Dana Denton leading the field in the Challenge Division with John Fisher second and Todd Flood climbing into third. Bryan Trachsel ran a great second set to slip past Terry Abbott into first place with Tracy Flood taking third.

Thanks to Bryan and Sherry for hosting and feeding us. Dorothy once again offered some fabulous looking deserts. The ladies played a few rounds of team Upwords. It was a great night.
